R. C. QUOTA IN ADAMS COUNTY SET AT $29,000

Adams county's fourth war-time Red Cross War Fund quota has been set at $29,000, Mrs. Elsie Singmaster Lewars, chairman of the county chapter, announced today.

Announcement of the quota was made at a War Fund planning meeting Tuesday at the Penn-Harris hotel, Harrisburg. Mrs. Lewars, Mrs. Margaret McMillan, local chapter executive secretary, and Mrs. Earl Bowen, chairman of local volunteer services, attended the meeting.

Henry M. Scharf is director of the local War Fund campaign which is seeking to raise $2,500 more than the 1944 quota. This is Mr. Scharf's third year as chairman of the drive. Last year the quota of $26,500 was oversubscribed by more than $2,500, and Mrs. Lewars said today, "We are expecting Adams county to do the same this year."

Expanded Services
"The increase was made necessary," she said, "because of the expansion of services necessary on both the war and home fronts. The widening of the battle fronts, the increased distance to battle zones, and the great increase of activities both abroad and in the United States have made it necessary to increase the War Fund quota."

Bumped Into Nazis
This time, however, he was on no "Save the American Army" assignment. Montgomery had sent him down as part of Maj. Gen. L. Lawton (Lightning Joe) Collins' Seventh Corps to wait until Rundstedt had extended himself to the limit, then to counterattack viciously and destroy as much German armored force as possible.

But the Germans moved faster than anyone thought possible. Harmon sent out the usual patrols and the first thing they did was bump into a Nazi armored column speeding for the Meuse.

Harmon immediately got in touch with his corps commander, explained the situation, and asked permission to counterattack. "Lightning Joe" told him to go ahead and he personally would take responsibility for changing the plans. It was a decision which had to be made immediately.

"Passed On The Prize"
The Second Armored Division immediately rolled into battle, although many of its tanks needed repair. In four days of slambang fighting these veteran tankers destroyed most of the enemy armored vehicles opposing them and kicked Rundstedt back 10 miles.

Montgomery, knowing of Harmon's love for a good scrap, thought Ernie had picked a quarrel ahead of time, thus upsetting Monty's program for a well-timed, paralyzing counterattack by several divisions. So he gave Harmon a "chiding through channels."

Then the full truth came through—that Harmon had had to attack to keep the American armies from being split. And, like the superb warrior he is, little Monty promptly relayed his personal compliments to Collins and Harmon for breaking up the German drive at one of its chief danger points.

"Lightning Joe" passed on the praise—and a bottle of victory whisky—to Ernie and his tankers.

Ray Donald Musselman, who is serving somewhere in the Pacific war zone, has been promoted to sergeant.

SENTENCE WITHHELD
Paul Wisotzky, 59, Littlestown, pleaded guilty to a charge of larceny from the person in York county Monday but he said he was "pretty well hit" in the Roosevelt tap room, York, when he tried to make a loan on Dec. 29 from Jacob Graham, drinking with him at the time, and then grabbed two $10 bills. Judge Sherwood withheld sentence, directing that Probation Officer Harris make an investigation and ascertain what can be done about getting a job for Wisotzky.

MISS BIESECKER BECOMES BRIDE OF PVT. FISHEL

In the first large church wedding ever performed in the Methodist church at Orrtanna, Miss Mildred E. Biesecker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Blair Biesecker, Orrtanna, became the bride of Pvt. George P. Fishel, Jr., York, U. S. Marine Corps, Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

More than 120 friends and relatives witnessed the double ring ceremony performed by candlelight by the pastor, the Rev. George W. Harrison, Bensenville. The bride was given in marriage by her father, Ferns, palms and gladoli were massed about the altar.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Robert Jones, Orrtanna, as matron of honor. The best man was S 2/c Richard Schwartz, York, now located at the Great Lakes Naval Training station. The ushers were Howard Musselman of Orrtanna and George W. Nangle of Gettysburg.

Gowns Described
The bride's gown was of Skinner's lustrous satin with a marquisette sweetheart yoke, a choker neck, fitted bodice and long tight sleeves. Her five-yard train was edged with three-inch Belgian lace to match the yoke. The bridal veil of imported illusion net with hand-rolled edges dropped to her fingertips. She wore an orange blossom tiara. She carried a colonial bouquet of white roses and stephanotis.

The matron of honor was gowned in heaven blue marquisette with a tight-fitting shirred bodice and self-fabric trim. Her bouquet was of yellow roses.

The bride's mother wore soldier blue and a corsage of red roses. The mother of the bridegroom was dressed in fuchsia. Her corsage was of talisman roses.

Before the ceremony Miss Marian J. Biggs, of Orrtanna, played "Still as the Night," "I Love You Truly," and "O Promise Me" and accompanied Arthur Roth, also of Orrtanna, as he sang "At Dawning," "Because," and "O Perfect Love."

Miss Biggs played the bridal chorus from "Lohengrin" by Wagner as the bride party entered the church and during the ceremony played softly "Drink to Me Only with Thine Eyes." Mendelssohn's wedding march was used as the recessional.

GROSS OPPOSES INDUCTION OF FARM WORKERS

Congressman Chester H. Gross, who represents the Adams-York-Franklin district, today called upon government officials "to wake up to the result of burns recently received in an accident. Details on the accident were not revealed in a letter just received."

The Congressman, himself a farmer, declared "it must be realized and admitted that the man on the farm is performing an essential and patriotic job, just as the man in the factory, war plant, the armed forces or the merchant marine."

He cited a number of related and contributing factors which point to the possibility of a food shortage this year. In a 20-minute speech in the House, he contended that the country's farmers, who only recently were called upon by Marvin Jones, War Food Administrator, to exceed last year's agricultural output, "are constantly harassed by government meddling." Barring adverse weather and elimination of government interference, the farmers will produce necessary food supplies, he said, adding that he was "glad to note that Marvin Jones recognized and warned that farmers face many wartime difficulties, including shortages of labor, machinery and supplies."

Opposes Farm Draft
The Congressman contended that the recent directive of the Selective Service System and the War Manpower Commission for the induction of deferred farm workers "will throw the agricultural production program out of gear."

"It is too bad that the Administration sees fit to go to these farms and take away the little remaining help. While one branch of the government sets production goals and calls upon the farmers to lend their all-out efforts to the war program, another branch of our government sees fit to take away farm hands thereby endangering the proposed farm production program," he said.

The Congressman said that "continued bickering over policy between the OPA and the War Food Administration is having a demoralizing effect upon the public."

Recent changes in the OPA point rationing system, he said, "is an indication that some in the government finally admitted the likelihood of a food shortage this year."

Reason for Scarcity
"Present scarcities," he said, "are due to American commitments to help feed people in liberated countries resulting in great food stockpiles, large reserves purchased by the Army and Navy and stored both at home and abroad, and government waste and storage of food stocks."

"We read and hear a great deal about much waste in the handling and storage of food. I know that it is practically impossible to prevent waste in wartime, but there is no rhyme or reason for the wholesale (Please turn to Page 2)

Weather Forecast
Clearing and colder tonight; Thursday, fair and cold.

Paris, Jan. 24 (AP)—Masses of German troops were spotted deep in Germany today, apparently rushing to the faltering eastern front from the ashes of the Ardennes salient in Belgium, virtually erased by the American capture of St. Vith.

In two days, British pilots attacked 165 packed troop trains on three lines northeast from Dusseldorf to Hannover. Significantly, it was reported that trains moving southwest to the Ardennes area were empty.

Highways from the Ardennes, choked full of eastbound traffic, also were under violent, continuing American aerial assault which in two days accounted for thousands of vehicles.

The Russian communique at midnight noted a fifth German division shifted from the western front to the Polish-Silesian front. The Russians Saturday identified four divisions which they said had been in action on the western front.

Take 11 Towns
"Despite the huge scale of the German movement, which must be considerably weakening the Reich's western defenses, there was no immediate signs of the enemy faltering," said AP Correspondent Roger D. Greene, who had been close to Field Marshal Montgomery's headquarters in the north.

He added, however, that "momentous events" were in the offing. The American First and Third Armies pushed their pursuit of the withdrawing Germans from the Ardennes toward the original line from which Field Marshal von Rundstedt started his drive almost six weeks ago. General Eisenhower's communique listed 11 towns captured.

Farther south, the U. S. 7th Army "made a limited withdrawal in the general area east and north of Haguenau," supreme headquarters announced, yielding most of the Haguenau forest but "no large towns." Five or six German divisions have been exerting pressure in this section of Alsace.

French First Army Polus attacked the Solmar pocket from north and south below Strasbourg.

Alsace Threatened
A front dispatch said the French advanced several kilometers north of Colmar and crossed the Ill river, a Rhine tributary, at several points.

A pocket of 300 surrounded Germans was being mopped up. North of Strasbourg, German 280-millimeter shells were dropping into Haguenau and Brumath, six miles southwest. The threat to northern Alsace remained serious, and considerable German movements were noted in the Bitche salient to the west.

Opposite the Maas (Meuse) river, the British Second Army fought with tank and infantry into Heinsberg, last important German road center west of the Roer. In attacks which have carried more than seven miles into northwest Germany, the British had struck to within four miles of Roermond and 32 of Dusseldorf.

Third Army infantry advanced two and a half miles across the headwaters of the Clevre river in Luxembourg, capturing Binsfeld, four and a half miles from Germany. Farther south along the main hill line of the Clevre, the 90th Infantry and Sixth Cavalry encountered the enemy dug in on the east bank.

St. Vith In Ruins
The occupation of the last rim of the salient remaining in German hands proceeded along a 30-mile front. The utterly ruined village of St. Vith was firmly in hands of the Seventh Armored Division.

Vianden, the south anchor of German lines in the Ardennes, was entered. It is a half mile from the frontier, and it was not known whether any Germans remained there.

The British occupied Maasbracht, Obphen, Brachterbeek, St. Joost, Oospringen, Laffeld and Waldenrath and fought in Montfort, four miles south of the German stronghold of Roermond, where the Roer meets the Maas.

The German withdrawal into the Reich from the Ardennes salient was in broad daylight and despite terrible punishment inflicted by American and British planes.

Beat Jap Attacks
These soldiers, whose heroic stand at Bataan so enraged the Japanese that the battle-weary men were forced to make the infamous "death march," had survived that ordeal only to die later of disease, starvation and maltreatment.

(A Bern, Switzerland, radio broadcast Tuesday night said several thousand American prisoners of war had been transferred from the Philippines to Japan. The report was based on information received by the Central Agency for prisoners of war in Geneva.)

To the southeast of Capas, a Yank column which captured Santa Monica Monday drove five miles southwest yesterday to take Concepcion in a line-straightening operation.

London, Jan. 24 (AP)—Russian troops have scored a new breakthrough in Czechoslovakia, Marshal Stalin announced tonight.

By The Associated Press
London, Jan. 24—Russian troops battled today through the streets of the prize Silesian cities of Oppeln and Gleiwitz and hacked out advances near Brieg and Cosel, Oder river towns above and below Oppeln, a late Moscow dispatch declared.

This direct Associated Press dispatch written at 5 p. m. (10 a. m., EWT) said "there were no indications yet that Marshal Ivan Koney's men has crossed the frozen Oder."

An earlier Reuters dispatch from Moscow however, said Koney's men had "established at least one bridgehead across the Oder," last great natural barrier protecting the heart of Germany, presumably near Brieg.

Brieg lies on the west bank of the Oder midway between Oppeln and Breslau on the river to the northwest, and Cosel is 27 miles below Oppeln.

The Germans threw People's Army troops into battles to stop the Soviet push on Breslau but the Russians were massing along 50 miles of the Oder and heavily shelling a wide area on the west bank of that last natural defense of the heart of Germany.

In East Prussia, Marshal Konstantin R. Rokossovsky's army battered in the outer perimeter of the defense zone guarding Elbing on the Baltic coast, whose fall would slice the Junkers province off from Germany.

An unconfirmed report said Konigsberg had been entered by other Russians sweeping in from the east.

One of the Red Army's sternest battles appeared looming in Poland in the Poznan area where Marshal Gregory Zhukov fought on the direct line to Berlin, a Moscow dispatch said. Poznan is 137 miles from Berlin.

Oppeln (pop. 44,600) is the capital of upper (southern) Silesia. The industrial city of Gleiwitz (pop. 111,000) lies 41 miles to the south-east. The German high command said Russian attacks on the cities had failed. Berlin broadcasts, however, reported fighting in the streets of both cities.

Another Soviet drive below captured Krakow has battered to the Makow district, less than 40 miles from Jablunka Pass, a natural gateway to the Reich at the northeastern corner of the old Moravian frontier of Czechoslovakia, the German war bulletin added.

Heavy fighting raged on in East Prussia, where Russians were within 18 miles of completely sealing off the province. A Moscow dispatch said Marshal Konstantin Rokossovsky's men were only 10 miles from the last railway from Germany to the Junkers homeland.

Russian guns were shelling cities on the western side of the Oder, and Marshal Ivan Koney's troops menaced Breslau, capital of lower (northern) Silesia, from points 10 to 12 miles away. Berlin said Soviet attacks east of Breslau were driven off. The capital city of 650,000 population is astride the river.

Koney's push into Silesia had outflanked the industrial production cities of Hindenburg, Beuthen and Gleiwitz, with a combined population of 344,000.

From the east bank southeast of Breslau, Koney's guns were firing virtually point blank at such cities as Ohlau and Brieg, a few miles to the west.

Writing from Moscow, AP Correspondent Eddy Gilmore said there were indications of sufficient ice on the Oder to support infantrymen but not tanks or other vehicles.

The Moscow radio confidently forecast an early crossing, declaring "the Volkssturm Divisions will be swept aside like nine-pins."

Massing of Marshal Ivan S. Koney's First Ukraine Army on the stream southeast of Breslau was announced last night by Premier Marshal Stalin in the last of four orders of the day which also heralded Russian advances in northwestern Poland and in East Prussia, rapidly being cut off from the rest of Germany.

Two of Stalin's victory proclamations hailed achievements in East Prussia—by Marshal Konstantin K. Rokossovsky's north-bound Second White Russian Army, which captured Saalfeld, 22 miles south of the Baltic port of Elbing, and by Gen. Ivan Shermakovsky's Third White Russian Army, which thrust within 22 miles of Konigsberg, the provincial capital, in drives from the east and northeast.

Yank Patrols
Are Nearing
Clark Field

General MacArthur's Headquarters, Luzon, Jan. 24 (AP)—Yank patrols operated today near Clark Field whose 13 highly-prized airstrips are less than 10 miles beyond the front lines of the Manila-bound 14th Army Corps.

Maj. Gen. Oscar W. Griswold's columns took cover at times while enemy artillery positions were silenced on the approaches to Bamban town, already smoking from American air and field gun attacks.

Six miles beyond Bamban is the maze of runways, hangars, shops and barracks which constitute one of Luzon's biggest military prizes. Spencer Davis, Associated Press war correspondent with the 40th Division, said in a field dispatch that "waves of American infantrymen" were moving cautiously across vegetable fields toward Bamban.

Near Last Barrier
He said the Yanks crossed "the small stream south of Capas" and then "sped" south. Inasmuch as the stream is less than four miles from Bamban, this suggested columns may be at the town's outskirts.

The Japanese may make their first stand along the natural defense line of the Bamban river, last barrier to Clark Field. That is at a point 58 miles south of the January 9 landings by five Yank divisions and other elements along Lingayen Gulf, and well over half way to Manila.

Tuesday, Griswold's men slowed their big southward push while they fanned out around burned and captured Capas.

One force swung nine miles west through hill country and occupied deserted Camp O'Donnell to which the Japanese had put the torch. The doughboys came upon plots overrun with waist-high wild grass, except where flames had swept, containing the graves of at least 4,000 Filipinos and scores of Americans.

LAST STAND BY NAZIS MAY BE AT ODER RIVER

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(Associated Press War Analyst)

Unless the German high command is able to carry out its determination to make a stand against the Russians along the Oder river, just inside the eastern frontier of the Reich, the life of the European war will run out like the sand from a broken hour-glass.

There's nothing, of course, which can save the Hitlerites from final disaster. That's certain. However, despite the terrific weight of the Red assault, they may be able to dodge fate a bit longer by holding on the Oder and may force the fighting to the summer.

The Nazi high command is reported to have met last Saturday and decided to defend the Oder line with all possible strength. There's no doubt this represents the real purpose of the enemy, and we must expect him to adhere to it to the limits of his ability.

Two Key Factors

Whether the Germans can make a stand on the Oder depends largely on two factors: (1) The condition in which their forces arrive in these frontier defenses from their headlong retreat, and (2) the ability of the Russians to maintain the momentum of the greatest offensive known to history.

In considering the first factor we must remember this: The indications are that the Germans, although retreating under pressure, are pulling back in accordance with plans of long standing, as I pointed out in Monday's column. They have suffered some heavy losses in men and material but nothing catastrophic has been reported. It's possible that they may be able to man their frontier defenses with close to a million and a half troops.

The Russians on their part are up against big problems of logistics. Their communications across the winter plains of Poland already are becoming extended, and the task of moving troops and supplies is increasing daily. Also the fierce pace which the Red armies are maintaining might compel a pause for a breather at the German frontier if there's heavy German opposition, although the stamina of the Russians and their ability to solve difficulties of communication have been amazing.

Formidable Zone

Moscow announces that the Red forces already have broken into Silesia along a front of close to 40 miles on the Oder southeast of the great city of Breslau. This being so, the Germans soon will begin to show resistance if they're able to make a stand. They may not attempt to make a heavy defense of lower Silesia, since that sector isn't absolutely vital militarily, but they must defend Breslau and the country behind it.

The great Silesian industrial area, so important to Nazi war production, in itself presents a formidable defensive zone. This sector represents the right flank of the Oder line. A Russian break-through there would put the Nazis in a critical position.

The Russians are heading for Berlin, as a military spokesman in Moscow says, to "carry out the death sentence on Nazi Germany." That may be a bloody road, but once the Red forces have reached Frankfurt-on-the-Oder, some 51 miles southeast of Berlin, the route to the capital will be open.

There are reports of heavy and hasty German withdrawals from the western front. If these reports are confirmed, the movement obviously is connected with the pressure in the eastern theatre. It may mean that Marshal von Rundstedt is pulling clear back into the defenses east of the Rhine, thereby enabling use of some of his forces immediately to meet the Red menace.

GROSS OPPOSES

and reckless purchase of foods simply to be stored in warehouses for one month or longer periods, and then throw it out because it has spoiled because of overbuying and bad warehouse methods," he said.

Congressman Gross said that farm goals can only be achieved this year by leaving an adequate number of workers on the farms, and added that "this work cannot be done by imported and inexperienced labor from Jamaica and Puerto Rico and Canada, nor week-end farmers from our cities."

Lauds Farmers

He said that fertilizer supplies will be shorter than last year; new farm equipment is going to be harder to obtain than last year, and repairs are practically out of the question.

"The farmers of this country have always been patriotic and done their bit, and they are just as much so today as ever, and if our government officials will simply leave them alone or give them encouragement, make it possible for them to produce, there is no question in my mind but that the food question will be satisfactorily solved. But action must be taken, immediately, now, certainly in the few remaining months ahead, because, after all, farmers raise only one crop a year. We have only one harvest each year, and when that harvest is short, there is no such thing as going out and bringing in another load."

New Pork Cuts To Require Points

Washington, Jan. 24 (AP) — The red point cost of margarine is going up from 2 to 3 points a pound, beginning Sunday, and previously point-free fat pork cuts will require a point-a-pound.

Otherwise, the Office of Price Administration announced today, red point values will remain unchanged in February, and there will be no changes in present blue point values for processed foods.

The agency said the 3-point value for margarine—one point above lard, shortening, and salad and cooking oils, recently returned to rationing—is intended to continue its availability for bread spreads and, in effect, discourage its use for cooking.

Supplies of beef, veal, lamb and mutton, and pork all will be smaller on an average weekly basis.

DELAY DECISION IN DRIVER'S CASE

Drunken driving charges against Thomas David Stultz, New Windsor, Md., will be held under advisement by Alderman William Nickey, York, for 10 days. After hearing testimony Tuesday from five witnesses for the commonwealth, Attorney Charles Still, counsel for the defense, asserted that a prima facie case had not been made out since no one could state they had seen Stultz and since he had been arrested in Adams county as the result of an accident, said to have occurred near Dillsburg in York county.

Assistant District Attorney Robert I. Shadle told the alderman that witnesses indicated Stultz was operator of the truck involved in an accident Jan. 10.

Officer John Micka, Harrisburg, of the state police, testified that the defendant denied any knowledge of the accident but admitted he had three whiskeys and a glass of beer in Dauphin county. State Policeman G. J. Evanko, Gettysburg, said Stultz was "very much intoxicated" and that the doctor who examined him said he had been drinking. Edward Gallagher, another state policeman, corroborated Officer Micka's testimony.

Donald Crone, Gettysburg, who took the defendant to the doctor, said he saw the truck hit a coal truck one mile south of Dillsburg. R. W. Bentz, who drove across the county line and caught up with the other driver, said he could not identify Stultz but only knew he had on a brown jacket.

William King and Marshall Sanders, both of Gettysburg, were named in the information as witnesses but did not appear to testify. The warrant was issued on information signed by County Detective Kasparovich.

Service Heads To Report To Congress

Washington, Jan. 24 (AP)—Backers of national service legislation depended on heart-to-heart talk to Congress by Army and Navy heads today to batter down opposition to pending manpower utilization proposals.

Although booked before Congress actually began consideration of "work-fight-or-jail" proposals for men between 18 and 45, the secret session of members of Congress with General George C. Marshall and Admiral Ernest J. King came at a time when the lawmakers found themselves widely split over legislation.

And Chairman May (D-Ky.), whose military committee scheduled an afternoon session to consider finally a limited national service bill, predicted much of the opposition would dissolve after General Marshall and Admiral King speak.

May pointed out that the meeting of the armed forces heads with Congress was an affair started last year and said it had not been arranged for propaganda purposes in behalf of legislative proposals. But he said he expected General Marshall to "lay it on the line and give us a true picture of the situation."

OPA Upheld Under War Powers Theory

Pittsburgh, Jan. 24 (AP)—Federal Judge F. P. Schoonmaker yesterday upheld the legality of the OPA's inspection of records of the Sittizing Brothers Lumber Co., New Castle, Pa., and the Beaver Meadow Creamery Company, Dubois, Pa., in suits charging each company with violation of OPA price ceilings. The lumber company was also sued for treble damages based on alleged overcharges.

Judge Schoonmaker said the government has the right to inspect records required to be kept under the war powers act and made available for inspection.

Better Inexpensive Clothing Promised

Washington, Jan. 24 (AP)—WPA and OPA held out the prospect today of the next few months bringing "better stocks of inexpensive garments," price-tagged with a $500-, 600-000 saving to consumers.

In their first big-scale collaboration, the two agencies shortly will issue interlocking price and production orders invoking unprecedented controls on every level of the garment trade, from textile mills to retail stores. They will cover wool, rayon, and cotton.

The program calls for 6 or 7 per cent drop in clothing prices which have risen 11 per cent in the 18 months or more that such a joint program has been in the conversation stage.

The industry, to which the program unfolded by Chairman J. A. Krug of the War Production Board and Price Administrator Chester Bowles here yesterday, was reported to have received it "not too enthusiastically" but to have acknowledged the necessity for stern measures in view of higher war demands and an inflationary trend which would have carried retail clothing prices another 6 or 7 per cent higher in six months.

U.S. PRISONERS IN GERMANY ON ROUTE OF REDS

By LARRY ALLEN

Associated Press War Correspondent who was a prisoner of war in Oflag 64 for nearly a year.

New York, Jan. 24 (AP)—Germany's largest prisoner of war camp for American Army Officers lies in the pathway of the Russian drive through northwestern Poland.

It is known as Oflag 64 and is about 102 miles south of Danzig and about halfway between Warsaw and Berlin. The nearest important city is Poznan (Posen), used by the Nazis as a troop concentration and transport center for the eastern front. The camp is on the outskirts of the village of Szubin, which the Germans renamed Altbunow.

(Marshal Stalin's announcement Monday of the capture of Inowroclaw indicates that the Red Army already may have overrun Szubin, only 20 miles to the northwest).

May Free Captives

The big Russian breakthrough raises the possibility that it may mean the liberation of American captives, but the Axis, keeping close tabs on Russian advances, usually move prisoners to other camps when one is directly threatened.

The state department at Washington said last night the question of protecting and arranging for the release to American authorities of U. S. prisoners of war liberated in the line of current Russian advances had been taken up with Moscow.

Embracing about seven acres of land, the camp is the "home" of more than 1,000 American ground forces officers, captured in the North African, Sicilian, Italian and Western front campaigns.

Although the temperature frequently slips below zero, the Germans allow each American officer only two pounds of coal per week. Prisoners sleep upon hard board bunks over which are thrown brown sackcloths filled with coarse straw. Each captive has a pillow of the same material and was allowed two small, half-size, wafer-thin German army blankets.

Meagre Fare

Each week every captive receives an American Red Cross food parcel. It is that that does the job of keeping the inmates alive and in fairly good physical condition.

The Germans at Oflag 64 gave American prisoners while I was there, this, once daily:

One slice of black, sour bread; a small flat plate of Ersatz soup, really made of spoiled carrots, turnips and dehydrated weeds, and two small, soggy, watery, black-salted potatoes.

Ask Yugoslavia And China To Fix Affairs

Washington, Jan. 24 (AP)—To both Yugoslavia and China went his thought from the United States today: We wish you would get your domestic troubles settled.

These troubles have become major Allied worries. They are high on the list of political problems facing President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Stalin.

Joseph C. Grew, Acting Secretary of State, in two statements issued yesterday called on rival factions in China and Yugoslavia to reach agreements.

China, however, was reminded of the United States' willingness to help Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's government reach a settlement with Communists in the north. Grew said this government "has not participated" in Yugoslav discussions for a unified administration.

Opposes Ban On Local Option In War

Harrisburg, Jan. 24 (AP)—A proposal to ban local option elections on liquor as a wartime measure drew opposition today from the Pennsylvania Anti-Saloon league.

"We are against it," declared Bishop G. D. Batdorf, Harrisburg, of the United Brethren church and president of the league. He made the announcement after a meeting of the league here yesterday to discuss the organization's legislative and educational program.

Sponsored in the Senate by Democratic Senators Wallace S. Gourey, (Washington) and John H. Dent (Westmoreland) the proposal is now under consideration by the Law and Order Committee.

Senator A. H. Letzler, (R-Clearfield) chairman said the committee has not yet considered the bill and no date has been set for a meeting.

WOULD EASE RESTRICTIONS ON OLEO SALE

Harrisburg, Jan. 24 (AP)—Bills to ease present restrictions on the sale of oleomargarine in Pennsylvania during the butter shortage have been submitted to the General Assembly.

Two measures, co-sponsored by Reps. Reuben A. Nagel (D, Beaver), and William J. Hester (D, Allegheny), would eliminate fees required for licenses to sell butter substitutes and would permit the coloring of oleo made from pure vegetable oils.

At present, oleo manufacturers must pay $1,000 annually for a license while other fees are $500 for wholesalers, $100 for retailers, $50 for restaurants, hotels and cafes; and $10 for boarding houses.

One measure also would drop the requirement that the seller's name appear on the carton and only require that of the manufacturer.

Other House bills would:

Would Raise Jurors' Pay
Give World War Two veterans a state bonus of $20 for each month's service up to a $500 maximum and a constitutional amendment to permit the Commonwealth to borrow $300,000,000 to finance it, Edward M. Regan (D, Lackawanna).

Require re-employment of honorably discharged veterans at like status and pay, Edward M. Regan (D, Lackawanna).

Set up five-member state fair practice commission to prevent employment discrimination due to race, creed or color, David H. Weiss (D, Westmoreland).

Allocate state's 10 per cent emergency tax on liquor to municipalities, Anthony J. Petrosky (D, Westmoreland) and Walter G. McAtee (R, Berks).

Increase jurors' pay from $4 to $6 a day, Albert L. O'Connor (D, Cambria).

Would End Capital Punishment
Require Highway department to pay damages for change of grade in highway improvements, John J. Mikula (R, Luzerne).

Grant veterans 10 points advantage in Civil Service examination scoring, James C. Brice (R, Lawrence) and David M. Boles (D, Allegheny).

Increase witness fees from $3 to $6 daily, Albert L. O'Connor (D, Cambria).

Senate bills introduced would:
Distribute one-fourth of funds from automobile and operators' license fees to municipalities for highway and bridge maintenance, Elmer J. Holland (D, Allegheny).

Abolish capital punishment in the state, John F. Fox (D, Allegheny).

CABINET FEUD TO GET AIRING IN COMMITTEE

Washington, Jan. 24 (AP)—The Wallace-Jones cabinet feud came up for a public airing today before a Senate Committee sharply divided in its sympathies.

Jesse H. Jones, the 70-year-old Houston banker whom President Roosevelt ousted as Secretary of Commerce, accepted the Commerce committee's offer to appear at an afternoon hearing in the marble walled caucus room of the senate office building.

Former vice president Henry A. Wallace, nominated by the President for Jones' double-barreled job as commerce secretary-loan administrator as a campaign reward, has been invited to testify tomorrow.

Technically, the committee was not to examine the pair with relation to senate confirmation of Wallace's nomination. That matter was pushed to second place yesterday in favor of considering a bill, offered by Senator George (D-Ga.), to split away vast financial responsibilities from the commerce secretary's duties.

George proposed reconstitution control of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and other loan

"Allentown Plan" Goes Into Effect

Allentown, Pa., Jan. 24 (AP)—The War Manpower Commission's "Allentown plan" to meet a war plant manpower shortage will go into operation today when 99 brewery and soft drink plant workers report to U. S. Employment Service offices for reassignment to war jobs.

About 200 cement workers are expected to be transferred shortly and the apparel industry is scheduled for a manpower piling later in the week under the area WMC's "war work or no work" policy.

Transfer of the cement workers was delayed yesterday, Dr. Frank P. Maguire, Allentown area WMC director, said, after some of the firms claimed immediate action would cause hardship.

Alois Pammer, business agent of Local 264, International Union of Brewery and Soft Drink Workers of America (AFL), said the men being transferred are taking it "graciously."

agencies in an independent $12,000-a-year administrator, as it was before President Roosevelt consolidated the lending authority with the commerce post three years ago.

The committee shunted the George bill ahead of the Wallace nomination yesterday by a vote of 10 to 2, with Senators Overton (D-La.) and Pepper (D-Fla.) in the minority and with several of the 11 Democratic members absent.

FINE GREASE IS MADE OF SAND

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE (Associated Press Science Editor)
New York, Jan. 24—Sand has been converted into a record-breaking new kind of machinery grease in a discovery reported to the American Institute of Electrical Engineers here Tuesday.

This grease does not harden at 70 below zero and does not melt at 400 above. There has never been a grease or oil like it.

The report was made by T. A. Kauppl, of the Dow Corning corporation, Midland, Mich., and G. L. Moses of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, Pittsburgh.

The sand grease is one of the new silicones, an entirely new class of industrial materials. All are based on introducing sand chemically treated, and made to form a synthetic resin.

The first silicone was announced last summer by the Dow Corning company, a new insulating material which raised the horsepower of some small electric motors by 300 per cent. The second was a new synthetic rubber, in military use, announced three months ago by the General Electric company.

Brings Bride From Coast: Russell Bushey, nephew of Grover Myers, of Gardners, returned to Adams county on Tuesday night from San Francisco, Calif., with his bride, who was formerly Miss Florence Frederick, of that city.

The newly-married couple will make their home in Gardners, where Mr. Bushey will conduct an electrical and mechanical establishment of his own.

Bought Building: B. Shmuckler has purchased the building on North Washington street in which he operates his shirt factory from John D. Lippy, administrator of the estate of William Ziegler.

Building Flats Near Hospital: In order to help provide for the influx of people to Gettysburg that is expected when the two new factories commence operation and at the same time to build up the section of town in the vicinity of the Annie M. Warner hospital, Clyde Berger, Carlisle street, formerly a lieutenant in the tank corps, on Monday night started work preparatory to erecting a row of houses on the eastern side of Franklin street, between West High and Breckenridge street.

Mr. Berger has also purchased land on the western side of Franklin street which he intends to divide into building lots.

Howe-Bream: A very pretty wedding was solemnized on Sunday at high noon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Bream, of Gardners, when Miss Elizabeth A. Bream, of Gardners, and James H. Howe, of Urich, were married by the Rev. G. W. Frey. A number of invited guests witnessed the ceremony.

Warren Gilbert Speaker: J. Warren Gilbert, battlefield guide of Gettysburg, will deliver an illustrated lecture at the United States soldiers home in Washington, Monday night on "The Battlefield of Gettysburg." He has appeared there on three previous occasions.

Tyson Brothers Exhibit: While Adams county did not win the first prize in the apple exhibit at the State Farm products show in Harrisburg this week, it was well represented and came in for a fair share of the honors.

"The exhibit of the Tyson Brothers, Flora Dale," says a Harrisburg newspaper, "who are probably the most well known and most successful apple growers in the east, if not in the whole country, has been thronged with visitors since the Farm show opened."

Girl Injured While Coasting: While coasting down Baltimore pike hill on the southern side of Evergreen cemetery, Friday night, Margaret Welkert, 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel D. Welkert, Steinwehr avenue, crashed into a big double-decker sled, and was knocked unconscious for about 30 minutes.

Wedding Anniversary: Mr. and Mrs. James S. Scott celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary on Thursday at their home in Mt. Joy township by entertaining a number of their friends at a dinner.

Bureau Asks for New Farm Agent: The request of the Adams county Farm Bureau for a farm agent will be one of the most important matters that will be taken up by the county commissioners at their regular meeting Tuesday. It is the desire of the local bureau to have the commissioners give them authority to secure an expert in agriculture to take the place of H. F. Hershey, who resigned last summer.

Personal: Lt. Earl McClellan, stationed at Fort Bliss, Tex., is in town to attend the funeral of Charles McClellan.

Mrs. Elsie Singmaster Lewars returned to her home on Seminary Ridge, Tuesday night, from a four-weeks' trip to New York city and Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Garvin, of Philadelphia, announce the birth of a daughter on Tuesday.

Fred Kriemhagen, of West High street, has gone to Harrisburg where he has accepted a position with the Philadelphia and Reading railroad.

Leo H. Bushman, of Baltimore street extended, and Curvin Redding, Emmitsburg road, arrived in Gettysburg on Saturday after motoring over icy roads from Flint, Mich., where they had gone to procure automobiles for the Flank brothers.

ENUMERATORS
READY TO BEGIN
FARM CENSUS
ON THURSDAY

Handicapped by a shortage of census takers the U. S. Department of Commerce Census Bureau survey of all agricultural undertakings in Adams county—the regular census conducted each five years on farms throughout the nation—will begin Thursday morning in about two-thirds of the 21 townships of the county. There are about 3,300 farms to visit.

Within a two-month period, through a system of doubling up of assessors who today completed a training course at the court house, all of the townships will have been covered as well as any farms that lie within borough limits in the county.

For the purposes of the survey any property of three acres or more which is used for agricultural purposes is a farm. Any smaller plot on which agricultural products worth $250 or more also is to be covered by the census takers.

"Get Your Figures Ready"
The enumerators, who will be paid at the rate of from 55 cents to $1.50 for each farm report will be required to enter answers to as many as 235 items on the reports of the larger diversified farms.

The enumerators and their instructors, W. A. H. Brindel and Henry W. Taylor, local and assistant local supervisor, respectively, for the census in this area, today joined in an appeal to county farmers to "get your figures ready" so that the completion of the census report may be handled as speedily as possible when the enumerator calls.

Here are a few of the things the census taker will want to know when he makes his visit to each county farm—carrying out the provisions of an act of Congress:

Some of the Questions
How many days last year did you work off the farm; the value of your land and buildings; the number of acres owned and rented and the number of acres from which crops were harvested; the amount of idle land; the number of acres on which crops were failures; the amount of pastureland and woodland and all other land on the farm; the number of persons who worked on the farm last year; amount of wages paid; estimate of the value of all farm implements and machinery.

In the section on general crops, farmers will be asked the number of acres of each crop harvested, the yield and the crop's value with similar sections on fruit and vegetable undertakings. The value of farm byproducts sold such as straw is to be entered.

A large part of the report is given to the livestock report. Figures will be asked on the number of all types of livestock on the farm, the number produced and the number sold or traded and their value. Reports will be asked on the quantity and worth of livestock products such as wool, milk and eggs.

Longest Report Ever Used
The farmers will be asked, too, to estimate the value of products of the farm used or to be used by households on the farm.

The 1945 census report is longer and more complete than that for any previous census and it probably will take the Census Bureau a year to compile the tremendous piles of figures gathered by the enumerators so that it will be 1946 before complete reports are available on the nation's agriculture as of January 1, 1945.

The facts gathered by the enumerators remain confidential.

Districts Assigned
The enumerators who have taken the training course and who will start work Thursday in the districts indicated are: Charles Weishaar, Liberty township; Mrs. Dora M. Ford, Straban township; Charles W. Albert, Hamilton township; John W. Lucabaugh, Berwick township;

Claude Murren, Mt. Pleasant township; Vernon Baker, Cumberland township; L. U. Collins, Mt. Joy township; J. Franklin Coffelt, Highland township; Eugene Murren, Conewago township; Emory Fissel, Butler township; and Mervin Miller, Germany township.

When these enumerators have finished their assigned townships, they will tackle the other townships which include Franklin, Freedom, Hamilton, Huntingdon, Latimore, Menallen, Oxford, Reading and Tyone. In other years there have been more applicants for the enumerators' jobs than there were positions.

With the completion of the training work today, Messrs. Brindel and Taylor will go to York to start training York county enumerators for their task. The next similar agricultural census is scheduled for 1950. The most recent one was made in 1940.

CITES POSTWAR FARM TREND

Trends toward direct marketing, giving farmers more for the product and the consumers more for the money, will expand after the war, according to Dr. Kenneth Hood, extension agricultural economist at the Pennsylvania State college. Labor costs and other distribution costs will likely continue high, he thinks.

Farmers, in the economist's view, have kept going "under extreme difficulties" and in meeting all food goals during the past three years have "performed an almost miraculous accomplishment." In spite of labor and machinery shortages, food production has been boosted a third above the 1935-39 average.

Although food needs will continue to be critical, in 1945 Dr. Hood said, supplies in Europe "are not as short as some folks believe." He suggests that in many instances farmers may be able to handle larger acreage with present equipment, helping to relieve the labor shortage and keep down production costs.

The economist is of the opinion that farm prices may decline shortly after the war, followed by a boom period, after which there may be a general reduction in the price level. Farmers will be wise, he points out, if they pay off debts and obligations while farm income is above average.

CORN IS KING IN
PENNA. IN 1944

Corn once more is king of crops on Pennsylvania farms, being designated the leader in value for 1944, according to an announcement by Miles Horst, state secretary of agriculture, based on recently compiled records of production and value, made by the federal-state crop reporting service.

In a war year when corn was vitally needed for feeding livestock and poultry on Pennsylvania farms, and despite labor and machine shortages, the corn acreage was increased in 1944 by 116,000 acres. Production of nearly 53,600,000 valued at $1.48 per bushel, was worth approximately $79,300,000, nearly one-third of the total value of all 1944 field and fruit crops.

Pennsylvania production last year was sufficient to rank the state 15th in the nation as a corn state, an advance of one place over its standing in 1943. The state also ranks

In yield per acre, Pennsylvania in 1944 ranked among the leaders, being credited with 11th place, advancing from 13th. Yield per acre was 38 bushels, the same in 1943. The advance in position was made despite drought conditions that existed for the best part of the summer in the principal corn producing counties.

Part-Time MOTHER

By DAVID TAYLOR MARKE

YESTERDAY: Penny Martin, rushing to finish her final ad for Milady Perfumes is interrupted by the unexpected arrival of her mother-in-law, Trudy Martin is delighted to find that Penny is about to become a mother—her first grandchild. But Penny rebelliously reveals that Jim, her husband, demands that she give up her career to care for the baby. She won't do it, she cries. Jim had agreed that she could retain her independent career after they were married and she intended to do so—despite the baby!

Chapter 2

She jerked wrapping paper around the finished art, her mind so much in a tumult that she could scarcely control the movements of her fingers as they tied the string. Then she rang for a delivery boy. She thought it the worst piece of work she'd turned out in years. She was fighting to see. She swallowed hard, fighting weak tears.

Trudy counted stitches and said, "I had a wonderful time in Buenos Aires. I arrived at the height of the season and was overjoyed to find so many of my friends there. Met some nice people, too."

"So you wrote," Penny fingered the drape at the window and felt rebuked. The echoes of the quarrel at breakfast seemed to linger in the room. "Don't you dare encourage Jim. Trudy, I couldn't stand it to have the two of you against me. We've got to work this out sensibly. I know, but I'm not going to give up everything that I've worked so hard to achieve."

Trudy chuckled. "You remind me of two wildcats fighting to see who is going to be boss of the den. You're furious, aren't you, because you are going to have this baby? Or is it because Jim has reacted to that fact in the usual manner? No matter how superior-appearing he might be, most men do, you know."

"Both, I guess. And then this Milady Perfumes job having to come at just this time."

"Does that mean so much?"

"Everything. Jim would have liked a chance at it. He was disappointed when Rutter's asked me for my stuff."

"It seemed to me that he's always been generous about your successes, Penny."

"I know. But before that, he understood perfectly and agreed with me about the baby. We bought a house in the suburbs, and we've been living there three months. Then this chance came along and I moved back into the city so that I could get the picture finished. That's when Jim said it wouldn't work."

Trudy purred three, knit two and purred three again. "And will it?"

"Certainly. I know a fine nurse who would be willing to take complete charge of the baby. I could come into the studio every day and pay the extra expense myself. But now Jim's got some silly notion that a baby needs its mother's arms."

"But—doesn't it?"

"I can't even remember my father."

and mother, and I haven't suffered because of it. A trained nurse can take better care of any baby than that child's mother."

Trudy made a quick gesture of protest.

"Oh, read the books, Trudy! More harm is done by that bromide—'mother knows best'—than anything else. I'm not trained to care for a child. But I am trained to do commercial art work."

"It's a novel idea, anyway. Most women—"

"Are afraid to admit it." Penny cut in swiftly. "Jim would not think of giving up his work. Why should I? Just because a woman has a baby doesn't mean that she must cut herself off from all that she loves to do—and can do well—and bury herself with a child. It is perfectly logical to assume that she can do both without either interfering with the other. It has been proven too many times to argue about."

"There might be compensations, Penny. Jim would have to shoulder his full share and it might be good for him. And looking after a home—children—well, I came back to tell you—"

Trudy paused, as if choosing her next words carefully.

She was, Penny admitted, an exceptional mother-in-law. As soon as Jim married, Trudy had left her home and had gone traveling and visiting people she had known for years, quite as if she had been afraid that she might interfere with their marriage. That's why she had stayed in Chicago so long. Never by word or gesture had Trudy implied that this cooperative marriage might not be the best possible arrangement for those concerned. It was as if she wanted it to work out, absolutely without her.

The two women sat motionless, as if caught by the fog that blew in from the lake. Through that fog Penny heard Jim's angry words "Have you no feelings? No natural instincts? Do you really want to turn your child over to nurses?"

Suddenly Penny saw her way out. She leaned forward eagerly. "You come and live with us, Trudy, will you? Until the baby is old enough for nursery school? Please, Trudy! Surely a grandmother's arms are as good as a mother's."

New Lado Road Now Ready For Convoys

Myitkyina, Burma, Jan. 24 (AP)—The first convoy of trucks to carry war supplies to China in two and a half years was ready to leave here Tuesday for Kunming over the new Lado road, declared officially open to military traffic.

Lt. Gen. Daniel I. Sultan, commander of the India-Burma theater, announced last night that the road had been cleared of Japanese troops and was ready to handle convoys. The fall of the Chinese border town of Wanting eliminated the last remaining obstacle to military passage.

The convoy preparing to leave on the final leg of its winding journey of more than 1,000 miles through mountainous jungle to Kunming arrived at Myitkyina last week after covering the 262-mile stretch from the western terminus at Lado.

New York, Jan. 24 (AP) — Joe Baksi, ex-coal miner from Kulpmont, Pa., ruled a heavy favorite today to whip Detroit's Lee Oma in their 10-round heavyweight bout at Madison Square Garden Friday night. Promoter Mike Jacobs anticipates a gross gate of $100,000.

New York, Jan. 24 (AP) — The eighth annual schedule-making conference of the IC-4A opens today at the Biltmore hotel. It will end Friday.

Los Angeles, Jan. 24 (AP) — Baseball, says the minor league's No. 1 executive, Clarence (Pants) Rowland, doesn't need a political front, and it can get a competent commissioner to replace Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis from within its own ranks.

Rowland, who has spent 42 years in the national pastime as a player, scout, umpire, manager and executive, isn't a candidate for the job, although the Pacific Coast league, of which he is president, has endorsed him.

"The game today is bigger than any individual and doesn't need to be lifted up by its bootstraps," he said. "All we need is a good, sound baseball executive."

DELONE FALLS BEFORE MAROON QUINTET 38-26

Playing by far their best game of the season and performing in true championship style throughout, the Gettysburg high school cagers handed the favored Delone Catholic high quintet of McSherrystown a 38-26 setback in a hotly contested game here Tuesday evening before a large crowd.

Coach Bream's lads swept their opponents off their feet in the first period and piled up a 15-5 advantage in that round and then maintained a comfortable margin the remainder of the way although the hard-fighting Squires managed to cut the locals' lead to five points midway in the third period.

Delone scored on the first play of the game when H. Noel slipped under the basket for a goal but the Maroons quickly took the lead on a long leave by Eisenhart, a layup shot by Fidler and a long throw by Heintzelman. Gorman added a foul and Ogden two free tosses to put the Maroons out in front 8-2 after four minutes. Ogden landed a one-handed stab before Keefe converted a foul. Eisenhart dribbled underneath the net for a goal and W. Noel landed a one-handed. Just before the period ended Heintzelman scored from a close toss.

The scoring fell off somewhat in the second period. W. Noel looped a short attempt for the Squires and a minute later Eisenhart cut the cords on a long toss. Keefe looped an over-head toss. W. Noel cut the Maroon margin to 17-11 on a long shot but Ogden came right back with a pair of twin-pointers from inside the foul line. H. Noel made good on a charity toss and the Maroons led 21-12 at half time.

Delone played its best ball early in the third period and mildly threatened the Maroon margin. G. Lawrence tallied from beneath the hoop and Ogden converted a foul in succession. Delone fans were in full cry when Smith landed a one-hander and added a foul. The Maroons recovered nicely on a foul and goal by Ogden and a foul and long toss by Thruess, subbing for Eisenhart. Gettysburg led 28-17 at the third period.

Smith and Fidler matched goals to open the final period. The teams fought furiously throughout the closing minutes and matched each other point for point most of the way with the Bream-men outscoring their rivals by one point during the round. Fidler came through with a pair of important goals and a foul in the final frame which definitely established the Maroons as winners.

Second Reverse

The defeat was but the second in 11 starts for the Squires and was a bitter pill for the visitors. In the heat of the excitement Coach Walceski drew a technical foul in the second period when he stepped on the floor in protest of an official's ruling.

While Billy Ogden took the top scoring honors with 14 points, no individual star can rightfully be picked out. Ogden and Eisenhart

LITTLESTOWN SPLITS GAMES

The Littlestown high school boys handed Westminster high its first defeat of the season Tuesday evening on the Westminster court, 24-19. The Adams county led all the way although the outcome was in doubt until the end. Everhart looped 12 points for the winners.

In the preliminary game the Westminster girls eked out a 22-21 decision, a goal by Littlestown being nullified as the final whistle sounded.

Fairfield will play at Littlestown Friday evening. A third game between the Littlestown jayvees and Little's Dairy will start at 6:30 o'clock. The games originally scheduled to be played at East Berlin on January 16 have been re-scheduled for January 30.

DELONE FALLS BEFORE MAROON QUINTET 38-26

Playing by far their best game of the season and performing in true championship style throughout, the Gettysburg high school cagers handed the favored Delone Catholic high quintet of McSherrystown a 38-26 setback in a hotly contested game here Tuesday evening before a large crowd.

Coach Bream's lads swept their opponents off their feet in the first period and piled up a 15-5 advantage in that round and then maintained a comfortable margin the remainder of the way although the hard-fighting Squires managed to cut the locals' lead to five points midway in the third period.

Delone scored on the first play of the game when H. Noel slipped under the basket for a goal but the Maroons quickly took the lead on a long leave by Eisenhart, a layup shot by Fidler and a long throw by Heintzelman. Gorman added a foul and Ogden two free tosses to put the Maroons out in front 8-2 after four minutes. Ogden landed a one-handed stab before Keefe converted a foul. Eisenhart dribbled underneath the net for a goal and W. Noel landed a one-handed. Just before the period ended Heintzelman scored from a close toss.

The scoring fell off somewhat in the second period. W. Noel looped a short attempt for the Squires and a minute later Eisenhart cut the cords on a long toss. Keefe looped an over-head toss. W. Noel cut the Maroon margin to 17-11 on a long shot but Ogden came right back with a pair of twin-pointers from inside the foul line. H. Noel made good on a charity toss and the Maroons led 21-12 at half time.

Delone played its best ball early in the third period and mildly threatened the Maroon margin. G. Lawrence tallied from beneath the hoop and Ogden converted a foul in succession. Delone fans were in full cry when Smith landed a one-hander and added a foul. The Maroons recovered nicely on a foul and goal by Ogden and a foul and long toss by Thruess, subbing for Eisenhart. Gettysburg led 28-17 at the third period.

Smith and Fidler matched goals to open the final period. The teams fought furiously throughout the closing minutes and matched each other point for point most of the way with the Bream-men outscoring their rivals by one point during the round. Fidler came through with a pair of important goals and a foul in the final frame which definitely established the Maroons as winners.

Second Reverse

The defeat was but the second in 11 starts for the Squires and was a bitter pill for the visitors. In the heat of the excitement Coach Walceski drew a technical foul in the second period when he stepped on the floor in protest of an official's ruling.

While Billy Ogden took the top scoring honors with 14 points, no individual star can rightfully be picked out. Ogden and Eisenhart

Baseball Situation To Be Reported Feb. 3

Chicago, Jan. 24 (AP)—The question of conditions under which baseball will enter a fourth wartime season 12 weeks hence may be bound up in a straight-from-the-shoulder report on plans of Selective Service to be presented major league moguls at New York on February 3.

Ford Frick, National league president, has the report. He obtained it Monday during discussions with Lewis B. Hershey, director of Selective Service, at a conference in Washington.

Frick sought to determine just how far-reaching a recent War department directive may be in regard to review of all professional athletes now classified 4-F, or with medical discharges, before they are rejected for military service. Frick has given no intimation of the contents of the report.

6 More Red Stamps Are Valid Jan. 28

Six more red stamps will be good on January 28 for obtaining meats, fats, and five more blue stamps will be good on February 1 for buying rationed canned goods, the OPA announced today.

Blue stamps are validated on the first day of each calendar month.

Red stamps are validated on the first day of each rationing period. Since the February rationing period will last five weeks instead of four, beginning January 28 and ending March 3, six red stamps instead of five, given for four-week ration periods, will be good on January 28, OPA said.

Red stamps that will be good that day for meats-fats, each worth 10 points—a total of 60 points—are Y5, Z5, A2, B2, C2 and D2.

Blue stamps that will be good on February 1 for processed foods, each worth 10 points—a total of 50 points—are H2, J2, K2, L2 and M2, a total of 50 blue points.

New York, Jan. 24 (AP)—Brooklyn's Branch Rickey has the privilege of being the last one to decide whether to join Chick Mehan's Trans-America Pro Football League or to stay out. . . . He also reserved the right to investigate the qualifications of other franchise holders and approve or disapprove. . . . Looks as if Chic had put himself out on a branch instead of the traditional limb. . . . Bob Geasey, Temple U. publicity director, has just turned down an offer to join the Phillies as traveling secretary. . . . DOG GONE GOOD STORY

During the Christmas holidays, a bowler on Herman Mergerd's Cincinnati bowling lanes, left a 5-10 split. . . . As he approached the foul line to deliver the second ball, Rusty, a full-grown boxer dog, galloped across the alley. . . . The ball was about 15 feet from the dog when the bowlers shouted "Look out, Rusty!" and Rusty turned to face the source of all that noise. . . . The ball rolled right through both pairs of Rusty's legs and went on down to spill the two pins. . . . As a convincing touch of authenticity, Eli Whitney adds that about 20 bowlers who witnessed the incident had a round of drinks on Rusty's owner.
